SCHLEY WILL TESTIFY

He Is to Be the Last Witness Before the Court of Inquiry.

WILL REVIEW THE ENTIRE CAMPAIGN

For the First Time the Man Who Sank Cervera's Fleet Will Give to the World His Version of the Controversy.

Washington, Oct. 15.—The presentation of the Schley side of the case was continued in the Schley court of inquiry Tuesday. When Monday's witnesses had been recalled and made the corrections necessary in their testimony, they were promptly dismissed, and at the instance of Mr. Rayner, the judge advocate summoned Lieutenant Commander James H. Sears, who as lieutenant was Admiral Schley's flag officer on board the Brooklyn during the war with Spain. He testified to many details connected with the campaign and was succeeded by a number of other naval officers who served on the Brooklyn.

Admiral Schley thinks it quite probable that the presentation of testimony in his behalf can be completed this week and next. He will be the last of the witnesses to be heard and when he goes on will make a review of the entire campaign covering the points in controversy.

Lieutenant Commander Sears testified that when the flying squadron arrived off Cienfuegos he knew nothing of a code of signals for communication with the Cuban insurgents. Questioned concerning the McCalla memoranda, he said it had been brought to Commodore Schley by the Hawk and by no other vessel to his knowledge. Commander Sears gave a detailed account of the encounter with the British steamer Adula, the examination on this point being as follows: "The Adula arrived off the port there and was boarded at first under orders from Commodore Schley by the Castine. After Captain Berry of the Castine made his report, the commodore sent one of the officers of the Brooklyn aboard her. After he returned and made report the commodore directed me to go aboard the Adula and see if I could contrive in some manner of inducing the captain of the Adula, an Englishman, to put himself out a little to tell us something about what was going on inside Cienfuegos. The captain said, of course, he would be very glad to do it, as he was coming under some authority from our fleet in Jamaica. He suggested that when he came out, next day, we should bring him to with a shot so that anybody observing it from shore would see that he was acting under force, and that anybody who could speak Spanish could find all they pleased from the refugees she had on board."

Fooled By the Adula.

"With what understanding did they go into port? Was there any understanding with you?" "That he was asked to come out the next day and it would be possible for us to get that information in fact, that it would be very easy to do so."

"Did he come out next day?" "He did not."

Witness also stated that Commodore Schley told him Captain McCalla brought a code of signals for communication with the insurgents on shore near Cienfuegos. Describing the blockade of Cienfuegos, Lieutenant Commander Sears said it was maintained from one to four miles out and that the Dupont was stationed inside with instructions to keep close into the mouth of the harbor and maintain careful watch, reporting any suspicious incidents.

Witness in giving the details of the cruise from Cienfuegos to Santiago, said the weather was boisterous with a heavy sea and that coaling at sea would not have been safe before May 27, when it was undertaken. With reference to the blockade at Santiago, witness said it was maintained at varying distances of from three to six miles to suit the commander-in-chief. In thick weather and at night the distance was less than in fair weather and the daytime. He also described the reconnaissance of May 31, when the Colon was fired upon and giving his conclusions with reference to that event he said it developed the strength of the land batteries and they proved stronger than he had supposed. Commodore Schley, he said, told him his purpose was to ascertain what the batteries were. Witness described the engagement of July 8. After stating the preliminary incidents, he said: "I was in my room when I hear the cry of the executive officer: 'Clear ship for action.' I knew what that meant and ran to the quarter deck. I looked aloft to see if the prescribed signal 'enemy is escaping' was up and saw that it was. I met the commodore on the quarter deck. He directed the signal 'clear ship for action,' followed by the signal to 'close in,' all of which were made. From my position I had a good view of the entrance. Our ship was heading at the time. I should say, to the westward of north, not on her regular heading, which was about northeast by north. The engines had been started by the time I got on deck and she was gaining way and swinging toward the enemy. The first vessel, which proved to be the flagship Maria Teresa, came out. She was directly on our bearing from the entrance to the port. As the ship swung toward the Teresa she swung slowly around. To me the Teresa appeared to not hold an exactly steady course, and the helm of our ship was eased one way or the other to keep our ram pointing toward the Teresa. The Teresa shortly turned squarely toward the westward and as she did so I got a view of the ship following in her wake. It was my observation that the Brooklyn was then held up to meet the second ship approaching. Of course we ported helm. The second ship passed in the wake of the first, and I said to the commodore it looked as if the second ship was going to try to ram us. He, I think, assented. At any rate, the Brooklyn was held toward her and she appeared to me, to be uncertain in her course. The Brooklyn was handled by the captain and quartermaster. She turned after she had passed to the southward of the Teresa's wake and followed her and then it was generally remarked on the lower bridge they were all going to try and escape to the westward. Just about the time the Viscaya turned, Yeoman Ellis who was a trained observer with the stadiometer, came to me on the platform and said his stadiometer showed 900 yards to the Viscaya. I immediately took an especial look at the Viscaya with that in mind and in my judgment confirmed the stadiometer. I said to the commodore: 'I think we are about our tactical diameter from that ship now,' and he said 'I think so, too,' or 'we are.' Then the order was 'hard aport.' I am not positive who gave that order. I think the commodore said 'hard aport,' and Captain Cook said 'It is hard aport.' The helm was kept hard aport and the ship swung rapidly in her turning circle. When the order was given 'hard aport' I looked at the next vessel in our fleet, the Texas, and in my judgment she was completely clear of her, and as we turned we passed well clear of her.

Never Touched the Texas.
After the turn was completed we found ourselves abreast or perhaps a little abaft the beam of the leading ship. The smoke at this time was very dense, but there were two ships in plain sight and occasionally we could get glimpses of the third. Shortly afterward the smoke lifted to the rear and I saw the Oregon coming toward us and also got a momentary glimpse of the remainder of our fleet and the whole Spanish fleet. I saw the torpedo boats and I sent one of the commodore's orderlies to the afterguns to notify them that they might look out. At that time I saw the Vixen on our port side which gave us a feeling of satisfaction that she would also protect us from torpedo attack. The course of the battle was continued on these lines with varying distances. It is my impression we held a very straight course. The navigator was course was unsettled, and the commodore said he thought she had enough of it and was looking for a soft spot to lie upon, which proved to be the case. She fired occasionally at us, rather rapidly at first, and then it became weaker. She was close in to shore at that time, and at 1:15 hauled down her flag. Captain Cook and Lieutenant Wells were sent on board the Colon to receive the surrender."

When Commander Sears completed his description of the battle Mr. Rayner asked if Commodore Schley had given him a dispatch to be sent to the navy department, making a report of the battle. The witness replied in the affirmative. Admiral Dewey then asked if this dispatch had been sent, and was informed by Mr. Rayner that it had not been forwarded to the department, although it had been taken to the cable office. The court decided that as the dispatch had not reached the department it could not appear.

"Suppose it was not Commodore Schley's fault that the dispatch was not forwarded?" asked Mr. Rayner. To this inquiry Admiral Dewey responded: "You can't ask questions of the court. We are not in the witness box. Commodore Schley's report is in evidence, and that is sufficient."

Mr. Rayner then passed to other points of inquiry, asking as to the distance between the Brooklyn and the Texas when the former made her turn.

Witness replied that he had given only sufficient attention to see that there was no danger of a collision between the two vessels, and did not feel able to give exact figures. He was sure there was a wide gap of water, possibly about 600 yards.

Mr. Rayner questioned witness concerning his association with Lieutenant Commander Potts on the Massachusetts, and asked if he had heard the commodore say during the Colon reconnaissance anything in the presence of Mr. Potts concerning the conspicuously of the uniforms of the officers as they stood on the turret during the firing of the enemy's batteries. The witness replied in the negative.

"Was the commodore behind the conning tower on that occasion?" "He was both behind and in front of it; he was moving about."

Schley's Bravery.

In reply to a question, Commander Sears said he had been with Commodore Schley in five engagements, all told. He was then asked as to the bearing of Schley under fire, and replied: "His bearing to me was a model for anybody, worthy of emulation at all times. Under fire his faculties, it was possible, seemed to be clearer and more in possession of them than at any other time."

"Was he in any state of excitement?"

"Not the slightest."

"Was he cool and calm?" "Absolutely."

"How about points of danger—would he get away from them, or old he expose himself to them?" "He was always putting himself in exposed positions. I requested him many times not to expose himself, as it was useless to do so."

Judge Advocate Lemly conducted the cross-examination of Commander Sears, going into details quite extensively, but developing nothing of additional interest.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED.

Roland B. Molineux Given Another Chance For His Life.

Albany, Oct. 15.—The court of appeals has granted Roland B. Molineux a new trial.

Molineux was convicted of the murder of Catharine J. Adams in New York city and sentenced to death. The court grants a new trial on a prevailing opinion given by Judge Werner of Rochester, his principal ground being that the lower court erred in admitting evidence as to another alleged crime, the death of Barnet, thus merging two issues. Justices Parker, Haight and Gray did not believe the Barnet evidence should be kept entirely out of the case; Judges Werner, Bartlett, Vann and O'Brien concurred in the prevailing opinion and for the expunging of the Barnet testimony. The court gave out a condensed statement of the reasons for granting the new trial. It says:

"Every member of the court of appeals agrees for the reversal of the judgment of conviction of Molineux on the ground that the trial court erred in receiving as evidence the declarations of Barnet made to Drs. Phillips and Douglass that he had received Kutnow powders through the mail."

The only subject about which the members of the court differ in their opinion relates to the testimony introduced tending to show that Molineux caused the death of Barnet by the same method as that used in taking the life of Mrs. Adams. Four of the members of the court O'Brien, Bartlett, Vann and Werner, agree that the evidence should not have been received.

The other three judges, Parker, Gray and Haight, hold that the evidence is admissible in that the evidence in the Barnet case pointing toward Molineux leads to identify him as the person who killed Mrs. Adams while attempting to take the life of Cornish.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORMER.

President Roosevelt an Ardent Advocate of the System—Postmasters to Be Given a Hearing.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—William Dudley Foulke, of Richmond, Ind., a member of the United States Civil Service Reform League, was one of the callers on the President Saturday. He came by invitation to talk over civil service matters. After the White House visit, Mr. Foulke had a long conference with Mr. Proctor, President of Civil Service Commission. It was semi-officially reported from the White House afterward that the President would offer to Mr. Foulke the first vacancy on the Civil Service Commission, and it was intimated that he hoped their would be a vacancy soon. Inasmuch as Commissioner Rodenburg is to retire this year to become a candidate for Congress, the President's suggestion amounts to an invitation to take Mr. Rodenburg's place. Mr. Rodenburg has not been considered a civil service man. Mr. Foulke is a man of wealth, has devoted a great deal of his life to civil service reform, and, if he should go into office, would become a powerful factor in governmental department service.

In this connection it is announced that the President will not take the recommendation of Congressmen to change presidential postmasters, when it is shown that the present incumbent is performing his duties to the best interests of the postal service. This will give every postmaster who is turned down by his Congressman a chance to carry his case up to the White House. Heretofore it has been the policy of the President to leave the postoffice patronage largely in the hands of the Congressmen.

STUDYING ITS NEEDS.

Congressing Kehoe Posting Himself on the Resources of the Big Sandy Valley.

[Big Sandy News.]

Congressman James N. Kehoe passed up on the train Thursday for a tour of inspection of the Big Sandy valley, in order to see for himself the vast resources of the valley and the great need of slack water navigation. He will go up the Levisa fork and return by way of the Tug fork. Mr. Kehoe said that he believed that by making this trip and familiarizing himself with the river and its tributaries, as well as the vast resources of the valley, he would be able to make a more successful fight for an appropriation at the coming session of Congress.

Mr. Kehoe will try and complete his observations in time to attend the Lawrence County fair here. If he succeeds in doing this a treat is in store for those who attend the fair that day, as he will be sure to make a speech.

According to the estimates received at the Department of Agriculture, the wheat crop of the world for 1901 is larger than it has been for two years. The estimate of the Hungarian department is 2,671,360,000 bushels. Beerbohm's corn list of London gives it as 2,711,600,000, and the Bulletin Des Halles de Paris as 2,790,310,000 Winchester bushels.

Hon. J. J. Osborne, Democratic nominee for Circuit Judge in the Nicholas-Harrison-Robertson district, is a native of Germantown, and was born March 4th, 1857. He worked for twelve years as a saddle and harness maker, but in 1885 was licensed to practice law, and has since then devoted his time to his profession.

BOLSTERING UP HOPE.

British Trying to Make Themselves Believe the End Is Near.

AS IN THE PAST, "MUCH DEPENDS."

Gloating Over the Prospect That the Boers Will Be Starved Out on Their Own Territory—News From Foreign Lands.

London, Oct. 14.—Apropos General Kitchener's proclamation and the policy of declaring martial law in Cape Colony, if he succeeds the rebellion will be stamped out in Cape Colony and the Boers repulsed from the invasion of Natal will be gradually starved out on their own territory. Much depends upon the temper and ability of the Boers respecting reprisals. They will lose the support of their Cape allies unless they can avail themselves of the sources of retaliation, horrible as the alternative may be. The question is discussed with bated breath in London and the opinion expressed is that Lord Kitchener and Lord Milner have waited before adopting strenuous measures until the precise moment when Botha, Dewett and Delarey are at the end of their resources and unable to capture British soldiers and retaliate by shooting them in return for hanging Cape farmers and the execution of Lotter's death sentence.

Sky Sailor's Voyage Failed.

Paris, Oct. 15.—The attempt of Count De La Vaulx to cross the Mediterranean in a balloon, which left Los Sablettas, near Toulon Saturday night has failed. The minister of marine, M. De Lanessan, has received a dispatch from Toulon announcing that the cruiser Dy Chayla, which was escorting the balloon, is returning to port with the balloon and her passengers which she picked up 10 miles east of the St. Laurent light house. The balloon was uninjured. The result of the experiment did not cause any surprise after the news brought to Marseilles by incoming steamers that the southeast winds which were blowing out at sea would carry the balloon to the coast of Spain or to Gibraltar. Moreover, the latest news from the passengers of the balloon indicated that it was proceeding very slowly. These two factors probably caused Count De La Vaulx to abandon his attempt.

Stock Exchange Rumor.

A rumor was started on the Stock Exchange that General Botha, the Boer commander-in-chief had been captured. However, a dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated from Pretoria Monday evening contains nothing more important than the weekly summary of the captures, a reiteration of the statement that General Kitchener's columns are moving against a considerable force of Boers near the Natal frontier with which General Botha is supposed to be, and the announcement that Commandant Scheep's command in Cape Colony has been broken up.

Colombia is Willing.

Paris, Oct. 15.—The directors of the new Panama company in a circular to the shareholders say that Colombia has expressed its readiness to sanction the transfer of the canal to the United States. An estimate of the value of the undertaking is being prepared at the request of the Isthmian canal commission. It will be ready by the time congress meets.

Bumped Against the Dock.

London, Oct. 15.—The British steamer Massapequa, Captain Wains, which arrived at Havre from Galveston, collided with a pier and sustained serious damage, several of her bow plates having been stove in at the water line. Thirteen feet of masonry of the rock were displaced.

PARTIES who have been sneering at the "level" service for years are singing very low since President Roosevelt assumed the duties of the office.

THE news from Washington is calculated to throw a damper on those office seekers and politicians who have been sneering at the "level" service.

CAPTAIN COOK, commander of the flag ship Brooklyn and Chief of Staff to Admiral Schley during the Spanish-American war, probably knows more about the Admiral's conduct and the management of the naval campaign than all the historians of Macay's stripe. Captain Cook was on the stand Monday and his testimony was to the point and furnishes a complete vindication of Admiral Schley. "I always regarded him (Schley) as an enthusiastic, brave and patriotic officer; I never had any other idea." That's Captain Cook's opinion, and it will be accepted in preference to that of Historian Macay, who was never near a fight in which the Admiral was engaged. Captain Cook was not only positive in his opinion as to the Admiral's bravery, but his evidence also vindicates the latter's management of the campaign both at Cienfuegos and Santiago.

An importance point in his evidence bears on the fact brought out by the prosecution that some of the Brooklyn's engines were uncoupled when the Spanish fleet made its run out of Santiago harbor in its effort to escape, and that the Brooklyn was not in full fighting trim. Captain Cook testifies that these engines were uncoupled at that time in obedience to orders from Admiral Sampson, and that Admiral Schley was not at all in fault.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE!

MASON CIRCUIT COURT.
Jacob Miller, Plaintiff.
Against + Equity.
Thomas K. Ball's Adm'r and al., Defendants.
In obedience to a judgment and order of sale of the Mason Circuit Court, rendered in the above mentioned cause at the June term, 1899, I shall, on Monday, November 4th, 1901,

at 2 o'clock p. m. on the premises, proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder, on credit of six months, at eight months, the following real property, to-wit: That certain real estate, lying and situated in the city of Maysville, Ky., and bounded as follows: Beginning at the northeast corner of Limestone and Second streets, at the intersection of said streets; thence with Limestone street towards the Ohio river .00 feet; thence eastwardly and parallel with Second street 21 1/4 feet; thence southwardly and parallel with Limestone street 86 1/2 feet; to the beginning corner, with the buildings and improvements thereon. Or sufficient thereof to produce the sum of money to be made, to-wit: $4,800. 28-100 with interest from June 2nd, 1899, and costs of their action. The purchaser must be prepared to promptly execute bond, with approved security, for the purchase price, which bond shall bear legal interest from day of sale until paid. C. BURGESS TAYLOR,
Master Commissioner,
Garrett S. Wall, Attorney for Plaintiff.

STOCK CLEARANCE SALE!

A settlement of the estate of the late senior partner of this firm is to be made in January. A necessity of the event is the reduction of stock to the minimum. It is to our interest to convert goods into cash at the sacrifice of profit. It must be a clearance sale in the most comprehensive significance of the term—a sale in which neither cost, value nor loss get a moment's consideration. To reduce our immense stock is the only aim, the highest hope, the fixed determination. No man or woman who knows the value of a dollar, who understands this opportunity to save, will let it pass without taking advantage of it to the full as far as prudence and means permit. While many departments are represented here, it would take double the space this ad. occupies to tell of the dozens of other equally attractive bargains. Call on us, it's the only way to master all the facts.

SIX BIG VALUES!

None bigger, none better, none worthier ever offered the people of Maysville.

No 1—Melange Cheviot, 45 inches wide, 50c, original price $1. In all the new fall shades. If you can judge values we are sure wisdom will guide you rightly when you see this unusual bargain.

No. 2—Black Taffeta 27 inches wide, 75c, original price $1. Every yard guaranteed to wear. You may be surprised at the price, but you'll be more surprised at the quality.

No. 3—Oneita Union Suits, 43c. instead of 75c. Soft and fine, well made and finished. Closely knit to withstand many washings. You know the garment too well to need further description.

Everything mentioned above on sale now. Of course early comers have been sold.

No disappointments await you, complete satisfaction stamped on every offering.

A DOLLAR is worth just what it will bring. If you had a barrel of them in the desert of Sahara they wouldn't buy a cup of water. Now we are certain there is no place in Maysville where a dollar will bring you as much as it will here during this sale. It might buy a larger package elsewhere but we are not talking of quantities. We refer to qualities and values. The following list tells what a dollar will do in some of our departments. It's not a list of exaggerations but a statement of facts.

A Dollar in the Linen Department will buy a splendid bleached Damask 72 inches wide in rose, fern, lily, clover and many other patterns. Original price $1. The best bed spread you ever saw for a dollar and no wonder for they've been selling for $1.

A Dollar in the Colored Dress Goods Department will buy an exquisite French Broadcloth worth $1 or a Panne Cloth as soft as velvet worth $1 or a Scotch mixed Covert for walking Suits, worth $1.

A Dollar in the Black Goods Department will buy a French Broadcloth, a Royal Soliel, a Peeble Cheviot, a Camel's Hair, a Milan Cloth, an English Poplin, all 1 1/2 yards wide and worth $1 a yard.

Dress Goods

WE ARE SELLING NOW!

We have the most superb collection of Dress Fabrics ever shown in Maysville. We don't know of a single NEW fabric that is missing in this collection. The finest Dress Goods House in the world is Arnold, Constable & Co., of New York City, and we have secured the exclusive control of their line for Maysville. Our buyer makes the Dress Goods department his hobby. He studies all the fashions in Dress Goods the world over. If he hears of a new fabric coming over from the other side a telegram brings us a piece on its arrival in New York. We have sold more fine Dress Goods this year than the old store sold the whole of last winter. Next year we expect to sell more than all the stores in Mason County together. If you have seen our line you cannot deny that we have the finest collection in town. No old goods in the lot. That's why we ask a small profit. Are we not entitled to it?

JONES--HORD NUPTIALS.

The Mill Creek Christian Church the Scene of a Happy Marriage Tuesday at Noon.

Tuesday at high noon at the Mill Creek Christian Church, the wedding service of the Elder John B. Jones, of the Bellvue Christian Church, and Miss Harriett Hord, youngest daughter of the late Stephen Girard Hord, was solemnized.

The bride was radiantly handsome in a gown of rose colored silk, with hat of black velvet. She carried a large shower bouquet of Bride roses.

The dame of honor was Mrs. John Harbeson. The other attendants were Messrs. Harbeson, Clarke, Cook, Willett and Hascon. The marriage service was performed by Dr. J. W. McGarvey, of Lexington.

There were gathered on this occasion a large concourse of relatives and friends, whose generous and sincere congratulations added greatly to the joyous assembly, who wished the couple health, happiness and prosperity along their road-way of life.

The old and sacred building was beautifully decorated with flowers and autumnal tinted leaves and was filled with the beauty and chivalry for which this section is noted. The bride and groom left on the 3:20 train for their future home at Bellevue. This evening they will be tendered a reception by the members of the groom's church.

KEFAUVER--ALBERT.

The Wedding of This Popular Couple a Brilliant Society Event.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Cox on East Third street was the scene of a brilliant society event Tuesday evening, the marriage of Miss Katherine Albert to Colonel Charles B. Kefauver, of Charleston, West Virginia.

The house was artistically decorated with palms, cut flowers and the glowing tints of autumn leaves.

The guests were received by Mrs. George Barbour, Miss Bessie Coons, Miss Pickett and Miss Ann Delia Power.

Promptly at half-past eight, preceded by the Reverend Augustine Smith, to the music of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, the bridal party entered the drawing-room in the following order: Colonel Kefauver and his best man, Mr. Douglass Hughes, of Charleston; the maid of honor, Miss Mary Alter Barbour, then the bride on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. George L. Cox.

The impressive service of the Episcopal Church was used and in front of the large round window at the end of the front drawing-room, with its back-ground of palms and tropical plants, the truth was plighted.

The bride, the youngest daughter of Mrs. Katherine Albert, is one of Kentucky's acknowledged beauties, and was never more beautiful and charming than in her bridal gown of rich white satin, with point lace medallions. Her tulle veil was held by a diamond crescent, the gift of the groom. She carried a large bouquet of Brides roses.

The groom is a native of Baltimore, but has resided in West Virginia for a number of years. He is a rising young politician of his adopted State, and the positions of trust he has filled testify to the high esteem in which he is held.

The maid of honor, Miss Barbour, was very handsome in a soft white silk, trimmed with pink panne velvet and chiffon. She carried Bridesmaid roses.

After the ceremony and congratulations, an elaborate supper was served. At the bride's table the decorations were in pink and white, the cloth strewn with pink roses. In the center of the table was a massive silver candelabrum, a gift from the groom's parents, an heirloom in the family for two hundred years.

The health of the bride and groom was drunk from an old silver loving cup, which had served for the same purpose at the golden and diamond weddings of the bride's great-grandmother. Those seated at the bride's table were the bride and groom, Miss Barbour, Miss Bessie Coons, Mrs. George Barbour, Miss Pickett, Miss Ann Delia Power, Mr. Hughes, Mr. Thomas and Mr. Shearer, of Charles-

What's Your Face Worth?

Sometimes a fortune, but never, if you have a sallow complexion, a jaundiced look, moth patches and blotches on the skin, all signs of liver trouble. But Dr. King's New Life Pills give clear skin, rosy cheeks, rich complexion. Only 25 cents at J. Jas. Wood & Son's drug store.

A Strong Woman

Iowa City, Iowa, Aug. 15, 1900

My wife was sick for three years. We tried everything without relief and spent much money. Finally we took Dr. King's New Life Pills and they cured her. She took two more bottles, knowing she would have to work hard during the hay harvest. She attended to all her household duties and loaded and unloaded all the hay. This medicine gave her strength. Formerly she was weak and tired and could hardly get about, but since she has been taking Wine of Cardui she feels better and stronger than when 20 years of age. JOSEPH A. EISENHAUSER.

Mrs. Eisenhauser had tried everything during her three years sickness and had spent considerable money. She was weak and could hardly get about for three years before she took

WINE OF CARDUI

Now, after taking the Wine of Cardui, she can work with her husband in the hay field. That is hard work, but it is not as injurious to a woman's health as labor in stores, factories and offices where thousands of girls are closely confined year after year. With the aid of Wine of Cardui a woman can do any reasonable work and enjoy good health. The health that Wine of Cardui brings makes a woman vigorous in body and mind. Freed from those terrible devastating pains a woman grows well and strong naturally. Wine of Cardui regulates the disordered menstruation and cures leucorrhœa, falling of the womb and periodical pains in the head and back caused by standing or sitting a long time in the same position. Thedford's Black-Draught puts the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys and blood in proper shape. Greatly increased strength and endurance is the natural result. Most cases are cured quickly. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui and 25 cent packages of Thedford's Black-Draught.

Marshal Boiling, of Millersburg, who shot and killed George Parker, colored, Saturday night was fully exonerated at the Coroner's inquest. Parker undertook to break up religious exercises that were being held in a tent. He fired through the tent twice, then shot Boyd Price, colored, in the hand. Boiling went in to arrest Parker, but met with resistance. Parker advanced on the officer, firing as he moved. After the second shot, which took effect in the Marshal's left hand, Boiling drew his revolver and fired four shots in rapid succession. Three bullets took effect in the negro's head and one at the top of the breastbone. Death resulted immediately.
